Grand jury to hear county probe

By LAURIE TELFAIR

The Randall County district attorney said Friday he is taking the county commissioners and their new administrative assistant before the grand jury to avoid any hint of a cover-up.

The grand jury Monday will consider allegations that the new county position of administrative assistant was created secretly in violation of the state's open meetings law.

"I think it's kinda apparent that a lot of people think that the job was created in some illegal manner," he said. "I think there is enough evidence to take to the grand jury."

Sherrod said that the relationship between his office and the county commissioners is such that the public would suspect any investigation he would make on his own.

The district attorney represents all county employees including the commissioners court in legal matters, as well as representing the public. The county government funds the operation of his office, Sherrod pointed out.

"To me, there is enough evidence and the public is uptight enough to think if I came out with a statement that everything was legal and proper, to think there is something crooked about my office. That it was a cover-up," he said.

Sherrod said he felt it would be fairer to both the commissioners and to the office of district attorney to have the creation of the job reviewed by the grand jury.

Three weeks ago, the news surfaced in a front-page story by an Amarillo newspaper that the commissioners court had hired former Canyon News editor Carroll Wilson to serve as the county's first administrative assistant to the court.

Sherrod hastily researched the position — only a handful of counties in the state have administrative assistants — and told the commissioners that they could legally create the position. However, Sherrod advised then, the duties of the position must be clearly outlined and must not infringe on any responsibilities held by the commissioners court.

The commissioners delayed the formal hiring of Wilson for a week until job specifications were prepared. He is to be paid $13,200 plus a car.

"The outward appearance, without hearing the commissioners side, looks bad," Sherrod said.

However, he said, it is extremely difficult under the open meetings law to establish criminal intent.

Sherrod said if the hiring was done improperly, he expected that the commissioners had misunderstood the law.

The Texas open meetings law is at times unclear.

Additional funding possible

Inadequate funding and apathy endanger Umbarger water plan

A long-awaited new water system for Umbarger appeared endangered again last week.

Resident apathy and a possible inadequacy of federal funding for the project threaten to put an end to a project which began in 1970 to replace residential wells with a central water system.

Louis Raef, who has headed up the effort to obtain funding for the system through the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), said last week fewer than half the potential customers for the system have signed the papers necessary to speed funding of the project.

And even if they do sign, he says, there's no assurance right now that adequate funding will be allocated to the community to finance construction of the system.

FmHA officials have asked that, prior to approval of funding for the project, each potential customer in the community sign an easement agreement and that the agreements be forwarded to FmHA by late September.

Raef said Thursday only about 20 of the 41 customers of the system have signed the agreements.

"If they don't bring them in, we'll just have to forget about it," he said.

Raef said even if the FmHA requirements are met, it appears at this point funding allocated for the project by the federal agency will fall short of the amount needed for construction.

The FmHA in a letter to Raef said it had allocated a $74,000 loan to be repaid in 40 years, and a grant of $42,000 for the project. The total available from FmHA, the, would be $116,000.

That amount falls short of projected costs of the system by about $34,000, according to Bill McMorries, engineer for the job.

McMorries said his firm is carrying through with completion of final drawings and specifications of the project but he has doubts the $116,000 will finance construction.

He said the FmHA letter indicated an original McMorries estimate of construction costs totalling $150,000 was too high.

The Amarillo engineer said he hopes the FmHA is right but costs he's seen for similar projects in the area would indicate they aren't.

"We hope it does come in that low," he said. "If it doesn't, we hope they'll ante up."

McMorries said it is possible the FmHA might allocate more funds if the construction bids don't meet the $116,000 figure.

Bill Lawson, FmHA official in Temple, was not available for comment last week.

Umbarger residents have already put up nearly $10,000 for the project and have formed a special water district to run the water system once established.

They began their search for funds for such a system six years ago.

$2.2 million budget is record

Hearing Mon. on county budget

Randall County taxpayers will have an opportunity to have their say about the proposed record $2.2 million county budget Monday.

County commissioners have scheduled a public hearing on the budget at 2 p.m. Monday in commissioners courtroom on the second floor of the north portion of the courthouse.

The budget is 22 percent higher than the 1975 operating budget and called for a 25 percent increase in county ad valorem taxes. Commissioners two weeks ago passed the tax increase and are to meet as a board of equalization Aug. 9 to hear complaints on that action.

Commissioners will meet in regular session at 1 p.m. and then following the public hearing on the budget.

The budget was unveiled two weeks ago after commissioners had discussed budget proposals from county department heads for more than a month.

It calls for receipts to total $2,281,748 next year with $1,379,854 of that to come from ad valorem taxes. The remainder is to come from various fees of office, automobile registrations, and other similar fees.

The receipt portion of the budget does not reflect a possible multi-thousand dollar surplus the county is expected to have at the start of the new fiscal year on Oct. 1. Last year, commissioners passed a budget for a full fiscal year beginning Jan. 1 and ending Dec. 31, but voted last spring to change the fiscal year. Unexpended funds from the last budgeted quarter of the current fiscal year are expected to be available for county use.

Disbursements for the year are budgeted to total $2,273,029. The budget calls for a year-end anticipated surplus of $8,719.

The budget for the next fiscal year is nearly $500,000 higher than the budget for fiscal 1976.

One of the big increases in the budget for the next fiscal year is a $243,000 budget item for completion of a revaluation program. Commissioners two weeks ago agreed to contract with Southwestern Appraisal Co. of Austin to perform the reappraisal. The firm is to have the job completed so new values can be included on next year's tax roll.

With the budget estimate for the reappraisal included, the total disbursement anticipated for the office of County Tax Collector Mrs. Audrey Bruse is $528,712. Total disbursement set aside in the amended 1976 budget was $236,831.

County clerk expenditures in the proposed budget will rise from $94,507 to $121,554. County judge expenditures are budgeted to rise to $29,392 from a 1976 budgeted level of $25,893.

Sheriff's office expenditures are to be $331,681 in the next fiscal year compared to a 1975 budget proposal figure of $282,861. The district clerk's office is budgeted $57,027 for the coming year and has a current year budget of $52,875.

Justice of the peace precinct 1 expenditures are tallied to total $28,614 for next year and are to total $25,733 for the current year. Justice of the peace precinct 4 is budgeted $23,715 for next year and has a current budget of $21,511.

The county auditor's office is budgeted $25,128 for the coming year. Budget for the office for the current year is $13,874. A total of $13,706 is budgeted for the county treasurer for next year. The office has a $12,520 budget

County school board, city board to meet jointly to eye future

Canyon school board members will try to assess the attitudes of Randall County school board members toward future development requests for de-annexation from CISD during a special joint meeting of the two boards later this month.

County board members accepted an invitation proffered Thursday by Canyon Board President Tom Keeling to meet in joint session at 10 a.m. Aug. 18 at the school administration building.

Supt. Jerry Jacobs, who is to leave Canyon for a position in Raymondville but who is expected to return for the special meeting, told The News following Thursday's meeting he hopes the two boards can look to the future.

A primary purpose of the meeting in his mind, he said, is to keep members of both boards informed on potential de-annexation requests and "maybe avoid getting cross-ways again some time."

The two boards were in conflict for nearly a year recently when a South Amarillo developer of 167 acres of land west of the Canyon Expressway petitioned for removal of the land from CISD and annexation by the Amarillo school district.

The Canyon board adamantly opposed de-annexation but the petition was okayed by the Randall County board and that board's decision was upheld by the Texas Education commission.

Since that initial conflict, however, several original board members have retired or otherwise left the board.

Jacobs said the two boards will probably also discuss a set of tentative guidelines drawn up by the AISD and CISD boards for future de-annexation requests.

Or, he said, it might be possible the two local boards will want to attempt another set of guidelines.

County board members Thursday followed action of the Canyon board earlier by voting to delay any decision on a petition presented by Richard Reeves, an Amarillo developer, for de-annexation of a full section of land in South Amarillo.

Jacobs told the county board the CISD bond and financial advisor has recommended no action be taken on any petitions until after the school district sells $3 million in bonds recently voted by the electorate. The bonds are to be sold Aug. 17. Jacobs said Financial Advisor Bob Davis feels that any action on petitions now pending before the bond sale could cast doubt on the boundaries of the district and might jeopardize the sale itself.

A motion by Gene Parker was approved to table action on the Reeves petition until after the CISD board has taken action on the petition.

In other business, the county board approved a bonded indebtedness schedule requiring the Amarillo district to pay the Canyon district $1440 as the AISD pro rata share of bonded indebtedness against property recently de-annexed from CISD in Puckett Place West subdivision.

Screwworms reported in Randall County calf

Screw worms are in Randall County, a Canyon veterinarian confirmed late Friday.

They were found in a three week old calf in the southeast portion of the county near Palo Duro Canyon.

The veterinarian warned against unneeded working of cattle to inflict any open wounds until the fly season is over at frost.

If cattle must be de-horned, castrated, branded or any other treatment that will open a wound, the veterinarian urged applying a fly killer and repellent to the animal.

He also urged routine spraying of cattle.

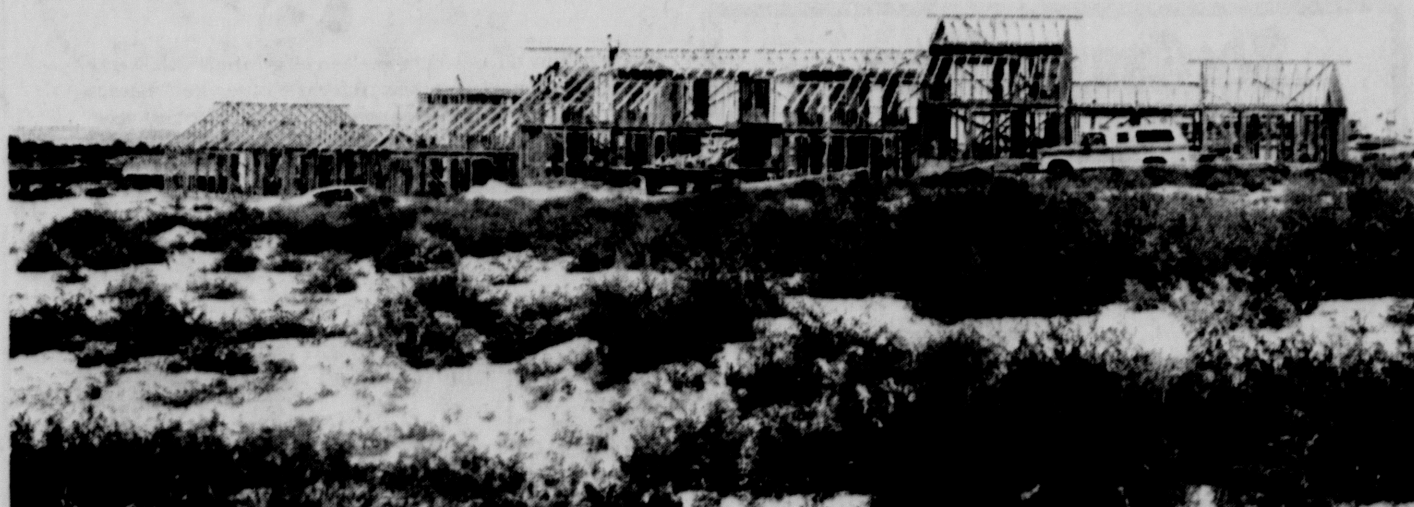

If screw-worm, which eats away at an animal or even a person's flesh, is found, he asked that either a Canyon veterinarian or county agent John Brazzil be contacted. They all have kits in which to enclose the worm and send it away for testing.

Screw worms have not been a problem in Randall County since the early 60's, the veterinarian said. A concentrated effort by state and federal agencies almost eradicated the pest, he said.

Screw worms are best controlled by infusing large numbers of sterilized flies into the area to breed with flies carrying the screw worm eggs. A load of sterile flies is to be dropped by plane over the affected area by Monday.

He said screw worms can be whipped by knowing they are here, by cooperation between ranchers and state and federal agencies and by halting all unneeded working of cattle until a freeze this fall.

New construction permits continue to soar in Canyon as home building records of years past are threatened. A major construction project now underway in the city is this series of townhouses being built by Lair Construction. City officials said 25 of the townhouse units are planned and six are now under construction at VFW Road and U.S. 60 in Hunsley Hills.

The withdrawal of the Kenyan athletes from the Olympics was a bitter disappointment to two West Texas State University track men.

Joseph Kemei and Gabriel Boit are both here on track scholarships from Eldoret, Kenya.

Boit's brother, Michael, was a bronze medal winner in the 800-meter race at the '72 Olympics and was the favorite to win the gold this year in Montreal.

He was also favored to win the 1500-meter run. Michael Boit held the fastest time last year and only .8 of a second off the world's record in the 800 with a time of 1:43.8.

"I wish people would leave everything else out of the Olympics and just let the athletes compete,"

Kemei said. "The athletes don't think about politics."

"It is kind of frustrating, especially to us athletes, to do all that work for four years to be in the Olympics and then not get to compete," he said.

Nations use the Olympics improperly to further their political aims, he said.

Yet, still Kemei said, he understood the African nations' need for unity.

Most of the African countries withdrew from this Olympics to protest the participation of the New Zealand team.

The New Zealand rugby team, sent to tour South Africa, touched off the boycott of the Olympics. South Africa was expelled from the International Olympic Committee for their rigid segregation system.

Kemei, WTSU's first All-American in track, said he would like to try for an Olympic team. However, he said, he did not have the exposure at the important national meets to gain the recognition he would have to have to place on an American Olympic track team.

In Kenya, he said, athletes' times are kept for a year before the Olympics and the three runners with the best overall records are selected.

New county auditor to be named Monday

Dist. Judges Bryan Poff and George Dowlen are expected to announce Monday the hiring of a new Randall County auditor.

Mrs. Betty Hodges, county auditor here a number of years, spent her last day on the job Friday. She had resigned because of a family move into Potter County.

Dowlen said Friday he would like to try for a selection from a number of possible candidates and will announce his name Monday, apparently at the regular meeting of commissioners court.

Time for a decision on parks

It is time for a decision. For months, the city parks and recreation board has brought out the old map done some years ago by an ad hoc committee of the Chamber of Commerce. They've looked at it, discussed facilities they want now, shuffled ball diamonds and tennis courts around the 50-acre tract and investigated costs of materials.

And there the matter has rested since late May. The entire park development is stalled now until a master plan is drawn. City officials are ready to prepare an application for state and federal funds but they can take no further action until the board agrees on a master plan.

The parks board has already accomplished a number of things since their creation as a part of city government last September.

Since then, they have charted the course for park development for the next few years, deciding to place their major commitment into a large central park.

They have chosen the site, picking land already owned by the city, and have given it a name: Southeast Park. They have nearly completed two baseball diamonds at the new park and have allocated remaining park funds to extend water to the diamonds and build a temporary road.

All this has required much work and thought by the five-member panel.

But they must go on. The master plan is the key to all further development. Without it, the parks movement is in danger of fading away as it did once before.

Another meeting is set for Tuesday. A retired Amarillo parks planner, who drew the old map and who met with the board earlier this year, is scheduled to attend. He offered to draw another map and has been waiting for final plans from the board. They city's administrative assistant is waiting for a master plan to use for the grant application. And the people who would use the park are waiting.

It is time for a decision — L.T.

Change set for crime news

For the past ten months, The Canyon News has tried to report all the offenses occurring within the city and all the arrests made.

There are several ways to look at the publication of names of those arrested for minor breaches of the law.

Publication is almost always hurtful for the person arrested. Publication is just one more blow to be suffered by the accused and the family.

Publication also takes away the presumption of innocence until proved guilty in a court of law that is rightfully given to those accused of a crime.

Making public the knowledge that one has been arrested carries its own punishment regardless of the judgement of the court.

Yet, the systematic reporting of crime and arrests benefits the public in two important respects:

First, such reports help the reader to form a realistic concept of the community. To ignore crime distorts the truth as fully as does its overstatement.

Second, crime reporting gives the public one of the few opportunities to judge some of their elected and appointed officials.

Beyond a parking citation or a ticket for speeding, few citizens are touched by the judicial and law enforcement agencies of our government.

But we are challenged at elections to choose our judges and prosecutors. And we also have the obligation to oversee to an extent the activities of appointed officials such as the chief of police and municipal judge.

The systematic reporting of the occurrence of crime in the community and the arrest and disposition of those accused of committing a crime give some of the only clues to voters on which to form an opinion.

We at the News office have weighed the benefits and the damages of naming those arrested and we will in the future follow this policy:

We will continue to report the offenses committed within the city and the arrests made. But we will omit the names of those accused of misdemeanors.

We will, however, publish the names of those accused of committing felonies.

In this way, we hope to balance the harm to the individual with the benefits to the many. — L.T.

Sherrod said.

"But if there was ever a situation where an open meetings law should apply, it's here," he said.

Sherrod said it appeared the commissioners created a new position for which no specific duties were listed, that is found in only a few Texas counties, that was filled before the public even knew it was even being considered and that the public had little opportunity to voice an opinion.

"There are a number of cases in which the open meetings law could be applied but if ever there was a situation that called for it, this was it," he said.

The grand jury will also consider allegations of misdoings at the museum.

"I think there is some explanation but again I think it ought to be taken to the grand jury," Sherrod said.

Sherrod said he hoped if the grand jury dismissed the allegations against the county commissioners and museum officials that they would issue a report commenting on their reasons.

Our world

Freedom isn't won by enslaving

By ANN BROWN

Americans from coast to coast — particularly rural ones — are ranking at being forced to assume financial support of New York City.

America is a family. When one member of the family is in trouble, the other members usually rally around to help. But if the same member deliberately continues getting into the same trouble, it tends to dry up family sympathy.

In New York, an illiterate garbage man can take home a bigger paycheck than a Texas school teacher with a master's degree.

It doesn't seem quite fair that a man with a small paycheck has to give up part of it to help support his neighbor who has a much larger income merely because he chooses to live beyond his means.

The New York situation is not at all unique, however; the same scene is being played all over America. It's the old, old story of one man enjoying freedom at the price of another's slavery.

While one American contributes generously to health research, and tax-supported healing programs, another absorbs it all by abusing his body.

No medical clinic will ever be able to contribute as much to the nation's health as individual self-care in the form of clean living.

Many Americans consider any limitation on idleness, drinking, smoking, gluttony, sexual promiscuity, and reckless driving to be an interference with personal freedom. And they expect the government (that's every taxpayer) to provide solutions for all the problems their self-indulgences create.

Several current politicians are trying to convince America that national health insurance, more doctors, and expensive hospital equipment will improve the nation's health.

What has it done for England? Clean living, regular exercise, and sensible eating habits are not in the realm of speculation; they have proven to be the best health insurance available.

The man who exercises his freedom to abuse his health is forging shackles for his neighbor in the form of higher insurance premiums and higher taxes.

The man who claims his "right to happiness" by walking out and leaving his wife and children without protection or support is shackling his neighbor with higher welfare payments and the cost of coping with frustrated juvenile delinquents.

The American who claims his right to drink and drive may be sentencing his neighbor to death, permanent injury, or financial ruin.

What New York is doing as a city, many Americans have been doing as individuals for years.

Before we censure New York City for taking more from America than she gives, let's make sure we are not guilty of the same conduct.

Our nation has given us a priceless birthright. What nicer birthday gift could we give America than to take the best possible care of ourselves and our dependents, not impose burdens on our neighbors, and attempt to make our country a better place for our having passed through it.

Letters to the editor Thanks for efforts on Castleman fund

To The Canyon News:

Gary Castleman, 17, was a rare young man, well-known and well-liked by all his classmates, teachers, fellow church members, and Canyon residents. He was one of our most outstanding boys. It was a privilege to be his friend. The tragedy of Gary's death set in motion some events which reflect the warm personal regard his friends held for him and his parents.

The Gary Castleman Memorial Scholarship Fund was established by his friends in his memory. Money received at both Canyon banks will provide for a scholarship to West Texas State University for a graduating Senior at Canyon High School to be initiated May, 1977, and to place a bronze memorial, honoring Gary, on the school campus.

His friends planned fund-raising events which with other contributions helped pay for the bronze memorial plaque and a certificate of deposit in excess of $1,000 with the interest providing for the scholarship. The hard work and fellowship evidenced at these events were most heart-warming, especially the efforts by each individual put forth at the Cal Fry and Dance, Saturday before last.

At this time I would like to take this method of thanking The Canyon News for its support in this effort and to express my personal gratitude and the appreciation of Jack Wright, Tom Lawdy, and the Canyon Young Citizens, to all the individuals and businesses who also supported this effort and continue their support. And a special thanks to the Amarillo News Media, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Lamb, Alpha Tau Fraternity, Mrs. Jean Wright, Budco Inc., The Young Country Sounds, Joe Gill's Cowboy Grocery, Saga Foods at WTSU, Canyon High School, Mr. Chuck Wright, West Texas Western Store, KCAN, and Canyon FFA.

Sincerely,

Male nurse finds rewards in field

West Texas State University nursing major Earl Balzen, Jr. has few qualms about entering a female-dominated profession.

"We still get treated like those ladies who are mechanics, but there is not as much resentment as before. When you are a nurse you lose sex completely," Balzen says.

Balzen has been interested in the medical profession for several years. He worked in the surgical unit at a pediatric hospital in Odessa, and was a pre-med major at Southwest Texas Junior College.

"I have worked with kids since I was 14, and have participated in the Big Brothers program and helped with the mentally retarded. I like pediatrics because it is challenging."

He chose nursing because he likes the involvement in patient care, and feels that he can bring "more professionalism to nursing."

What attracted him to the Texas Panhandle from his hometown near Uvalde is West Texas State's baccalaureate nursing degree program.

"I was told by some friends that the WT program was one of the two best in the state," he says. "And you need a baccalaureate degree or better for a career in nursing."

His wife Karen, a licensed veteran nurse, also plans to return to school at WT to earn her baccalaureate degree.

Balzen feels that the nursing role usually credited to females "has been suppressed so long in males."

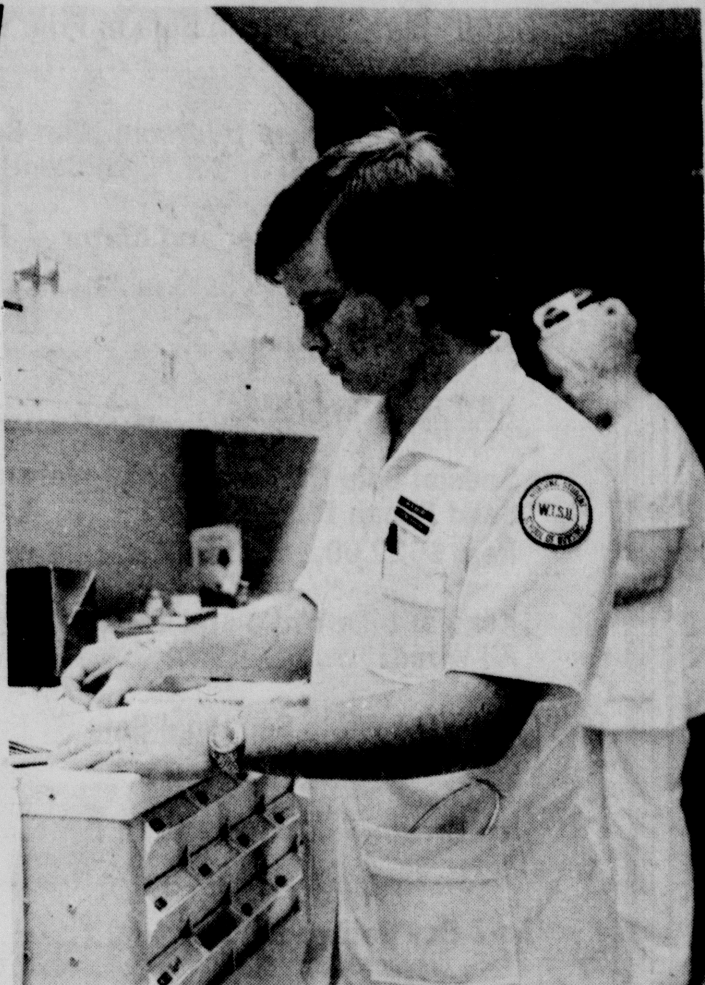

"There is not so much of a feminine role in nursing. You don't have to baby or console patients — you help them console themselves."

Dean of the WTSU School of Nursing Hazel Aslakson estimates that men make up about 10 percent of the enrollment in nursing.

"We really do encourage male applicants in nursing, and are very happy to have them. They give a good balance to the program."

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised if the enrollment of men in nursing increased over the years until there was almost as many male nurses as female," she says. "There are good opportunities for men in nursing."

Balzen plans to work in pediatric surgery as a surgical assistant when he graduates in May, 1978. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Balzen of Knippa.

Canyon actress to star in '6 Rm Riv Vu' staging

Canyon resident Janelle Haley is a featured actress in "6 Rms Riv Vu," dinner theatre production at the new Country Squire Dinner Theatre at the Amarillo Hilton Inn.

The production runs Aug. 3 through Sept. 4, Tuesday through Saturday evenings.

Miss Haley has appeared with the Gaslight Dinner Theatre in Oklahoma, the Fine Arts Theatre in Hot Springs, Ark., and the Great American Melodrama Theatre in Dallas, among others. A singer and dancer as well as an actress, she has also worked professionally in television.

Stage credits include "Dark of the Moon," "Star Spangled Girl," and "Red-Stocking Revue."

"6 Rms Riv Vu" is the title of the Broadway comedy by Bob Randall.

A special price of $7.50 will be featured for the three premiere nights. Regular prices are $8.50 for week nights and $9.50 for Friday and Saturday evenings.

The new Amarillo entertainment venture offers a complete evening's entertainment. Buffet food service is available from 6:30-8 p.m., followed by a pre-show musical revue at 8:30 p.m. The play, featuring a professional cast of actors, begins at 8:30 p.m.

The title "6 Rms Riv Vu" is taken from a newspaper apartment advertisement. A vacant apartment with a river view is open for inspection by prospective tenants. Among them are a man and a woman who have never met before. When they get ready to depart, they find that they are locked in, and it is at this point that comic complications set in "6 Rms Riv Vu" enjoyed a Broadway run, and has proved a popular production in theatres across the country.

Ticket sales up at WTSU

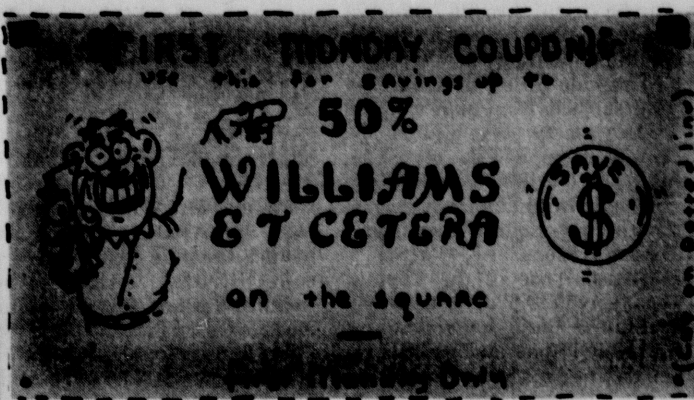

Advance season ticket sales for the Buff's '76 football season exceed sales for this time last year by 75 to 100, according to Jimmy Campbell, athletic business manager.

Campbell said, "Sales are going well, and I think they will continue to increase...therecent publicity should help."

"Of course, we want to sell as many as we can," he commented in reference to a goal. He classed 2,500 to 3,000 as probably a realistic goal for advance sales.

That puts the present level at about 70 percent of the anticipated number.

The '76 season opens Sept. 18 with a home game against Wichita State. Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium seats 20,000.

Freshman honors program to review past and probe future

West Texas State University will initiate its honors program curricula this fall with special freshmen courses in American history and "Images of the Future."

Dr. Charles Townsend, professor of history, will discuss cultural and intellectual trends in American history while Dr. Roy Thoman, professor of political science, will look at visions for the future.

"It is part of the trend to systematically probe the future," Thoman says. "I will try to take a total view of the future. We will look at projections about science, technology, lifestyles in the future, political systems and warfare, as well as examine the techniques of projection."

Thoman will use two books by Alvin Toffler, "Future Shock" and "The Futurists," and another by Richard A. Falk entitled "A Study of Future Worlds."

Toffler served as editor of "The Futurists," which includes articles by Marshall McLuhan, Arthur Clarke, and Buckminster Fuller.

"There is a very respectable body of knowledge on the future," Thoman says.

Admission to the WTSU honors program is based on a combination of high grades, college entrance exam test scores, academic performance in college-level courses and general academic promise and interest, according to Dr. Theodore Freidell, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences who is directing the program.

"The program consists of honors sections in state and local government, American history, and English literature which may be taken to partially fulfill general education requirements, plus a number of honors colloquia organized around topics and integrating a variety of disciplines," Freidell says.

"Both colloquia and honors sections provide opportunities for independent study, creative exposition and class discussion," he continues.

Honors courses planned for the spring semester are English literature with Dr. Richard Moseley, state and local government with Dr. Walt Shelly and "Approaches to Knowledge" with Assistant Professor of Philosophy Art Johnson.

Students interested in participating in the honors program should contact Dr. Freidell in the College of Arts and Sciences.

Canyon fireman attends fire training school

Lloyd Kurtz, volunteer fireman on the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department of Canyon, attended the 47th Annual Texas Firemen's Training School July 26-30.

The school, attended by nearly 1,550 students representing about 600 cities from approximately 30 states, was on the Texas A&M University campus last week.

Firemen could choose their course at the school from a list including firefighting, fire prevention, fire department officer training, fire department pump maintenance, specialized fire protection, and disaster rescue training.

Fireman Kurtz was sponsored by Randall County Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies by contributing toward the cost of the school.

Since volunteer firemen are interested in attending this school to help do a better job of fire fighting and fire prevention, 100 County Farm Bureaus and the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies in the statewide program have sponsored 100 firemen at the school.

"The Farm Bureau Insurance Companies believe volunteer fire departments have been very effective in reducing the amount of loss involved by fire in rural areas," said President Carrol G. Chaloupka of Dalhart. "It is our hope in sponsoring this program that the firemen will help the Canyon Volunteer Department to better serve the residents of Randall County."

Foreign guests get triangles

Receiving triangles for coming the farthest to attend the outdoor musical drama "TEXAS" this past week were a number of foreign visitors.

On July 23 Lynda Holve of Sydney, Australia received the triangle from among 1,779 persons in the audience.

Chi Duk and Song-Jong Ho of Korea received the July 24 triangle with 2,042 in the Learning to sew under the guidance of her mother is 11-year-old Kaye Lynn McCasland who will be entered in the junior division of the 4-H County Dress Revue Monday afternoon. Her mother, Mrs. Bob McCasland, is a 4-H trained seamstress herself and approves of the guidance given students in 4-H.

4-H students who plan to participate in the countywide dress revue August 2 were given instructions and pointers on modelling Monday afternoon by former extension agent, Mrs. Jim McManigal of Happy, shown here working with Mary Jo Turpin.

Debbie Hales makes a check in the 4-H Records Book she was preparing early in July for the 4-H Clothing Contests. Miss Hales is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones Hales and a member of the Randells 4-H Club. She will be among those participating in the 4-H Dress Revue August 2.

4-H fashion's contest for public

"Bell Ringing 4-H Fashions" is the theme for the county-wide dress revue to be held for the general public Monday afternoon, August 2, in the Farm Bureau Building at Canyon.

Beginning at 2 o'clock, the dress revue will include modelling of their garments by a number of 4-H students.

Each garment will have been pre-judged on construction, and 4-H clothing records from participants will also have been judged earlier. Points garnered from the modelling segment of the contest Monday afternoon will be added to the total score for each participant and winners in the divisions 9-11, 12-13; and 14-19 will be presented with gift certificates and the right to represent the county at the District I 4-H Dress Revue. (The District I Revue will be held August 12 at Amarillo College.)

Commentators for the revue here Monday will be 4-Hers Ronda Davis, Debbie Detten and Lisa Fischbacker with pianists, Debra and Karen Hartman of Umbarger 4-H Club, providing background selections for the afternoon.

Refreshments are being furnished by the Randall County Home Demonstration Council and will be served following the public revue to which the public is invited at no charge.

Judges for the revue will award

50% of the overall score to construction, 25% to modelling and appearance of the garment on the entrant, and 25% for the clothing records.

Those who will judge the revue this year include Sherry Harter, assistant county extension agent from Deaf Smith County, who will judge the clothing records entered; and Kathy Billingslea, assistant extension agent from Swisher County, and a junior 4-H leader from Swisher County who will be judging on overall appearance and construction of the garments.

Representatives expected to enter from the Randall Longhorns 4-H Club of Randall County are: Debbie Detten, Lori Tripplett, Lisa Detten, Mary Jo Turpin, and Becky Detten. Debbie Hales is expected to enter representing the Randall's 4-H Club of the county.

Entries expected from Jowell 4-H Club are Kaye Lynn McCasland, Brenda Abbott, Hilda Hartman, Nancy Hartman, and Janie Irbeek.

Expected to enter from the Umbarger 4-H Club are Roxanne Skarke, Cathey Adams, Anita Adams, Joeleta Adams and Debra Hartman.

Adult clothing leaders for the current year include: Mrs. Joe Detten, Mrs. Joe Turpin, Mrs. Elmer Hartman, Mrs. Sharron Thompson and Mrs. Jones Hales.

Genealogical buffs view research

Mrs. Alfred Baker of the Amarillo Genealogical Society spoke Tuesday at the regular meeting of the High Plains Genealogical Society, at the Cornette Library.

Introduced by Mrs. Jo Ann Reynolds, program chairman, Mrs. Baker showed maps on South Carolina and told of her trip to various parts of the state and actual research efforts at local and state agencies and libraries. Her presentation included the way she prepared at home with maps and materials before actually making the trip for investigation.

Mrs. Faye Hufnagle reported on her correspondence to the National Archives requesting information from the 1900 census. Mrs. C. C. Callarman presented the idea of additional requests for complete file copying from the national records.

The vice-president, Jo Ann Reynolds, conducted the business meeting. The next regular meeting will be Sept. 28, at the Cornette Library lecture room.

4-H training ground for future leaders

4-H is a training ground for tomorrow's leaders in the fields of homemaking, ranching, farming and many other fields of endeavor.

"Youths who spend their free time today making plans for tomorrow and learning skills to go with their hopes and dreams are developing proper leadership qualities," relates the County Extension Agent Becky Hall.

In addition to learning about sewing, 4-H clothing projects help to develop leadership abilities, poise and self-confidence for the students.

4-Hers learn skills which are advantageous to buying selectively when they purchase patterns and materials for their projects. They also learn the proper skills required in construction of clothing for themselves and for their families later on, reports Mrs. Hall. They also learn about modelling and proper selection of accessories.

"We encourage our young seamstresses to attempt projects which are suitable to their level — and they realize the accomplishments of a sort of built-in success," she stated.

Leadership abilities come not only from participation as a young 4-H student, but in later years that same 4-H boy or girl will be a leader in preparing the programs, and working with younger youths of the county.

Candlelit nuptials

Double ring marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Marilyn Sue Kerr and Larry Dean Trevathan in a candlelit ceremony Saturday evening, July 31, at Southwest Baptist Church of Amarillo.

Brass spiraled candelabras with a central arched candelabrum decorated in greenery centered the altar area with matching bouquets of gladioli. A three bract candelabra framed the kneeling bench with the central candle being lit by the couple to symbolize the union of marriage vows as the ceremony closed.

Rev. Doug Cauley, pastor of Sunray Bible Baptist Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Reavis I. Kerr of Canyon and the late Mrs. Ruth Holland Kerr. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Garvin Long of Maple, Texas and the late William Clayton Trevathan.

Miss Cathy Sutton, soloist, presented We've Only Just Begun, O' Perfect Love, Wedding Prayer and My Tribute during the musical rites. Steve Thompson was organist and accompanied the vocalist in the presentation.

The bride's sisters, Miss Catherine Kerr and Mrs. Billy Bell, were her only attendants. Both wore matching floorlength dresses of light blue quiana nylon styled with a v-neckline trimmed with wide lace. The dresses were complemented with bell sleeves and they wore white picture hats and carried nosegay arrangements of white carnations and blue daisies.

Flower girl was Miss Charlene Trevathan, niece of the bridegroom, who wore a floor length dress of quiana nylon similar to the bridal attendants.

Ring bearer was Steven Cauley of Sunray, son of Rev. and Mrs. Doug Cauley.

Serving as best man was Dean Ely of Minden, Louisiana, a nephew of the bridegroom, with Boyd Gibbs of Lubbock as groomsmen.

Ushering were the bride's brothers, David Kerr and Tim Kerr, both of Canyon. The bride's other brother, Paul Kerr, was photographer for the evening. Receiving guests at the wedding register was Miss Carolyn Miller, a niece of the bridegroom.

Escorted and presented in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal length wedding gown of crystal silk designed with a high rise bodice framed by a rounded yoke of lace with a stand-up collar edged in crystal pleated ruching. The wedding dress featured full Juliet sleeves with a lace cap at the shoulder and fitted elongated cuffs overlaid with lace and trimmed with matching ruching. The A-line wedding skirt was contoured forming back fullness. Hemline of the skirt was framed with a deep flounce forming a flowing chapel sweep. The soft overskirt was accented with lace and ruching above a wide sweep of lace. Her Cathedral length wedding veil was bordered with lace and attached to a bridal bandeau overlaid with lace.

She carried a cascade arrangement of crystal pom-poms mums centered with a white cattelya orchid atop a bridal testament. For the wedding trip to points in Colorado, the bride changed to a floral nylon dress featuring gray, blue, green, white and ivory and complemented the travel outfit with ivory accessories and the white cattelya orchid lifted from the bridal bouquet.

A wedding reception honoring the newlyweds was held in fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony where the bride's table was laid with white lace over blue and accented with bouquets of the bride and her attendants.

Serving wedding cake and punch from the bride's table were Mrs. Vanessa Vinson of Amarillo, Mrs. Doug Cauley of Sunray and Mrs. Virgil Ely of Minden, Louisiana, a sister of the bridegroom.

Attending the bridegroom's table were Mrs. Paul Jerden of San Juan Capistrano, California and Mrs. Gordon Carroll of Garland, both sisters of the bridegroom.

A rehearsal buffet for the bride, bridegroom and other members of the wedding party was held Friday evening at the home of the bridegroom's stepaister, the Carl Millers, in Canyon.

After August 12, the couple will be establishing their home in Hereford. The bride has taught second grade at West Central Elementary School in Hereford for the past year and will continue in that position this fall.

She is a 1970 graduate of Canyon High School and earned the B.S. degree in elementary education from West Texas State University in 1974 where she was a member of Alpha Chi Honor Society. She taught kindergarten classes with Sunray Independent School District during the 1974-75 term.

The bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of Three Way High School and has served 3 1/2 years with the United States Air Force. He is currently stationed at Cannon Air Force Base in Clovis, New Mexico.

Marsha Steelman, sister-in-law of the bride, served as the matron of honor and wore a white floorlength gown with yellow and pink trimming as she carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies.

Oren Davis, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was his best man. Ushering duties were handled by Denny Steelman, brother of the bride, and Kevin Golden, the bridegroom's brother.

Flower girl was Sara Jane

Taylor who wore a pink street length dress trimmed with white lace and carried a basket of yellow and white daisies. Shannon Steelman, brother of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of voile over bridal taffeta designed with a v-styled neckline. The closely fitted bodice was smocked and the sleeves were framed with lace edged kerchief points. The empire styled wedding gown was framed with ruffles to the hemline and she wore a wide brimmed wedding hat with ruffling on the brim. A satin ribbon trimmed the crown and terminated in a bow at the back with streamers flowing over the edge.

The traditions of marriage were carried out with a penny minted in the year of her birth, 1957, as "something old," her wedding dress as "something new," a watch borrowed from her sister-in-law as "something borrowed" and a wedding garter previously worn by her mother as "something blue." She also had a lucky sixpence in the bridal shoe.

Following the reception in fellowship room of the church the couple departed on a wedding trip to Six Flags Over Texas and since June 22 have made their home at Star Route, Wildorado.

The bride is a 1976 graduate of Canyon High School and was a member of the Chorale and Show Choirs of the school. The bridegroom was a former bandsman and graduated from Hereford High School in 1975. He is now employed in farming with his father.

City woman authors book about learning problems

"Any Love Notes Today?" is the title of a new book to be published soon by Learning Pathways, Inc. of Evergreen, Colorado.

Written locally by Wilma Jean Jacobs, the book is a story about children with exceptional educational problems and expresses a tender love foretelling the growth and understanding of the educational community so long hoped for by parents of children with educational problems.

The dialogue of Mrs. Jacobs' book will be an inspiration for both teachers and parents and shows a depth and aliveness of the characterizations making it one of the most memorable stories of the year.

Mrs. Jacobs has earned the right to speak with authority on her subject matter having taught twenty-one years, devoting much of her time since 1968 to children with exceptional problems in learning.

Her graduate work was completed in 1972 at West Texas State University. She is the wife of Jerry Jacobs, recently resigned superintendent of Canyon Independent School District.

As well as being active in many professional organizations, Mrs. Jacobs is listed in "Who's Who in America, 1976" as a child development professional. She has been invited to speak at the Texas Association for Children with Learning Disabilities at Houston this October.

Laura Jokerst to attend 'Saddle Straddle' event

Everything you always wanted to know about everything. Volume 1, only 49¢.

Introducing the Centennial Edition of Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia.

The best way to get information is to go to the source.

And that's exactly what Funk & Wagnalls has been doing since 1876, when they began publishing reference books.

Their sources for this new Centennial Edition include hundreds and hundreds of prominent people. Each a recognized authority in his, or her, field of knowledge. Many with Nobel and Pulitzer prizes to their credit. And while they're too numerous to list here, you'll find they're all listed in Volume 1.

The result is a comprehensive, accurate home reference center with over 193,000 indexed subjects. (That's as many subjects as encyclopedias costing hundreds of dollars more contain.)

And each article is written in clear, simple English that gets to the heart of the subject without going over your head.

Try Volume 1 for 49¢.
It'll sell you the rest of the set.

To introduce you to Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia, we sell Volume 1 at the remarkable introductory price of only 49¢.

So instead of going through a salesman's sales pitch, you just go through Volume 1 and let it convince you to buy the rest of the set a volume or two a week.

That way, you find out if it's the right encyclopedia for your family before you pay for the whole set. And you save two ways. First, because Funk & Wagnalls sells their encyclopedias through supermarkets instead of through salesmen there's no commission to pay. Second, because supermarkets can sell in great volume, Funk & Wagnalls can afford to charge you less per volume.

So stop by the Funk & Wagnalls display in any of our supermarkets and pick up Volume 1. It's one of the smartest purchases you can make these days.

Buy Vols. 2 & 3 and get a free dictionary
in the bargain.

You get Funk & Wagnalls' 2-volume Standard Desk Dictionary free when you purchase Vols. 2 and 3 of the Encyclopedia.

For a limited time only at:

Volumes 2 through 27, $2.49 each.
